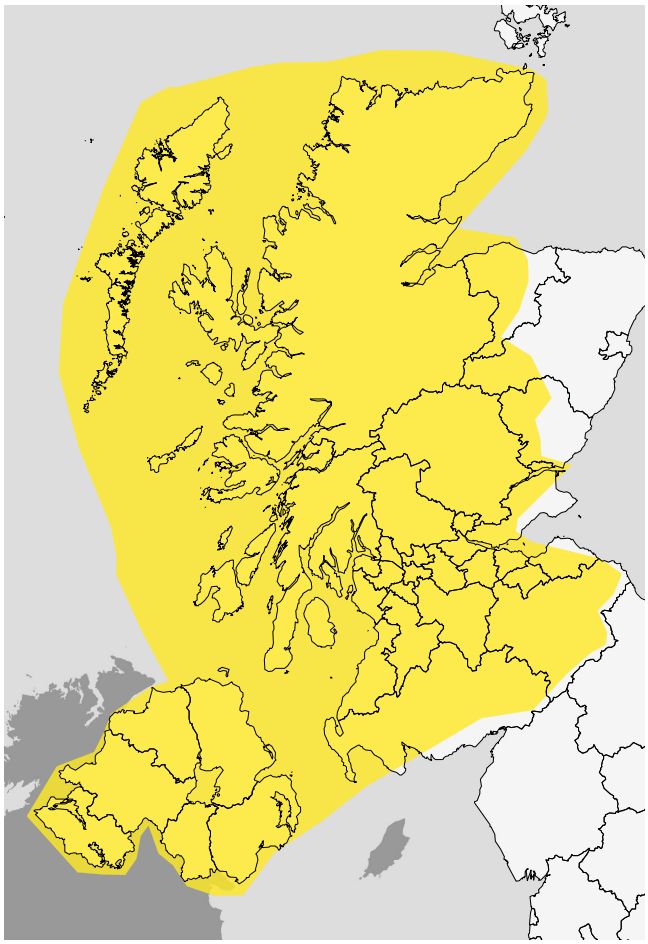
Yellow warning
Wind & Snow

Between
00:00 Mon 10 Feb 2020 and
23:59 Tue 11 Feb 2020



Heavy snow and strong winds will combine to lead to disruption to travel, especially over higher routes.

What to expect

- Possible travel delays on roads stranding some vehicles and passengers
- Possible delays or cancellations to rail and air travel
- Power cuts may occur and other services, such as mobile phone coverage, may be affected.
- Delays for high-sided vehicles on exposed routes and bridges likely
- Some injuries from slips and falls on icy surfaces
- Icy patches on some untreated roads, pavements and cycle paths.

Further details

Frequent and heavy snow showers will affect the region throughout Monday and Tuesday. Snow showers will occur especially over high ground, giving slight accumulations of 1 to 3 cm above 150 metres and 5-10 cm above 300 metres. Snow will gradually build up and in a few locations, accumulations of over 20 cm are possible by Tuesday evening over the highest routes in Scotland. The height of the snow level will vary throughout the period, but it is likely that any snow accumulations at low levels will only be temporary.

Yellow warning
Wind & Snow

Between
00:00 Mon 10 Feb 2020 and

Strong winds, gusting 50-60 mph, will lead to blizzard conditions at times and considerable drifting of lying snow over high ground.

Icy surfaces are likely to occur, more especially on Monday night into Tuesday morning.

Frequent lightning strikes are also possible, perhaps leading to interruptions to power supplies.

Reason for update

Updated to extend the warning to the whole of Northern Ireland and to include more of eastern Scotland.
